

Scholarships in Social Innovation cohort: Students selected for these scholarships will be pursuing careers in related wide range of degree programs. This cohort will work with faculty to identify persistent and systemic problems facing communities in South Metro Atlanta. They will engage with local leaders and community members to design programs that lead to innovative and sustainable solutions to advance the historically under-served communities within the University's service area. For more information contact Kenja McCray, Kenjamccray@clayton.edu
